It starts with you and your hair. Whether it’s on your head or your face, join us this November to grow it out, dye it blue, or rock blue accessories all month long. Rally your friends, family, and community to join the fight to ZERO Out Prostate Cancer. In this toolkit, we’ll lay out the most effective social media tips and tricks for individual fundraisers, first responders, and corporate teams.

Grow & Give is a nationwide fundraising and awareness campaign to zero out prostate cancer by growing facial hair or rocking a boldly blue style. There are over 3.1 million Americans living with prostate cancer. ZERO Prostate Cancer’s Grow & Give campaign helps provide financial and emotional support to patients and their families. It also secures life-saving research and raises awareness about this prominent disease.
