IF YOU PREFER STANDARD FACEBOOK POSTS, HERE ARE TWO SUGGESTIONS

KICKOFF POST

Many of us at (Your business) have not been shaving during this pandemic, but NOW we have a reason to grow our facial hair - and it's all for @ZeroCancer! We're about to get real scruffy for the next 30 days as we raise awareness and money to #ENDPROSTATECANCER.

One in nine men will get prostate cancer. Let us know in the comments if you know someone whose been affected by this disease.

Here's the link to our Grow & Give fundraising page: (link). We're not planning to shave until we meet our goal of $XXXX, so yeah...things are about to get real hairy. #ZEROstrong

Facebook

UPDATE POST

Yup, (your business) is officially scruffy! For those of you who don't know, we're growing out our facial hair and donning fake staches for @ZeroCancer's Grow & Give campaign. We're on a mission to #ENDPROSTATECANCER and helping us reach our fundraising goal is a great place to start. There's only (3/2/1) week(s) left to donate!

More than 191,000 men will be diagnosed with prostate cancer this year and we're not shaving until we've done our part to help. Check out our fundraising page to donate: (link). #ZEROstrong

GO LIVE ON FACEBOOK TO KICKOFF YOUR FUNDRAISER!

Let your followers know what you're doing, take their questions in the comments section, and encourage them to donate. You can even go LIVE with weekly updates.

Here's a rundown you can use:

- Tell your audience why you're growing your mustaches/beards this November.
- If someone on your team has a personal connection to prostate cancer, share it.
- Educate your donors. ZEROcancer.org is a great place to read up. Lead with "One in Nine men will get prostate cancer."
- Encourage your followers to spread the word about your Grow & Give campaign and to DONATE!
- Throw down a friendly challenge to other corporate teams. Don't forget to tag them in your post.
- Always post the link to your fundraising page at support.zerocancer.org.
- Make sure everyone on your team shares the post to their personal Facebook pages.

KICKOFF POST

It's #NoShaveNovember and during this #pandemic many of us at (business handle) haven't been shaving, but NOW we're choosing to grow our facial hair to raise awareness and $ to #EndProstateCancer. Learn more and #donate here: (link).
@ZeroCancer

UPDATE POST

Things are getting hairy - but it's all to #EndProstateCancer. We're taking part in @ZeroCancer's Grow & Give campaign bc 191K fathers, husbands & friends are battling #prostatecancer right now! RT to spread the word. And then #donate! (Link) #ZEROstrong

SHOOT A VIDEO!

We all know Twitter is a great place to tweet mustache/beard photos and your fundraising link. But consider shooting a quick video with your phone and uploading that to Twitter. Keep your video at about two minutes and make it fun!

- Give an update on your team's facial hair growth.
- Tell followers the CONS of having a beard. (They're itchy. Food gets caught in them. My beard is gray!) And the PRO: helping to END PROSTATE CANCER.
- Always use the hashtags #ZEROstrong and #EndProstateCancer and tag @ZEROcancer.
- If you're doing a challenge, tag your challengers so they see the post.
- Ask your followers to RETWEET your video to spread the word.
- Tag potential donors.

Instagram

USE INSTAGRAM'S DONATION STICKER

Photos, photos and more photos. Did we mention that it's good to post photos on Instagram? We're pretty sure you've got the photos-thang locked down, but don't forget to take advantage of Instagram's donation sticker. Here's how:

1. Make your post in Instagram's stories.
2. Click the sticker button.
3. Add the DONATION sticker.
4. Choose ZERO - The End of Prostate Cancer as your nonprofit.
5. Include your team's name on the sticker so we know who the donations are coming from.
6. Pin your story to the HIGHLIGHTS.

OTHER INSTAGRAM TIPS:

1. Shoot a 1-minute video with updates on your team's progress.
2. Go LIVE.
3. Include your fundraising link in your Instagram bio.
